9. Retraction Rights:

The Investor acknowledges that the Shares are retractable by the Investor after a period of 12 months following the last day of the fiscal quarter of the Company in which the Shares being exercised for retraction (the "Retraction Shares") were issued. Such retraction shall be effective (the "Effective Date") as follows:

- (a) for Retraction Shares for which a notice of retraction (a Retraction Notice) is received by the Company on or before January 31st, the Effective Date shall be the following March 31st;
- (b) for Retraction Shares for which a Retraction Notice is received by the Company on or before April 30th, the Effective Date shall be the following June 30th;
- (c) for Retraction Shares for which a Retraction Notice is received by the Company on or before July 31st, the Effective Date shall be the following September 30th; and
- (d) for Retraction Shares for which a Retraction Notice is received by the Company on or before October 31st, the Effective Date shall be the following December 31st.

The Shares are retractable during any one year period after the issue date of the Share by delivering a Retraction Notice to the Company within 60 days before the 1st and any succeeding one year anniversary (each an "Anniversary") of the last day of the calendar quarter (the "Determination Date") in which fell the issue date of the Share. If the Investor does not deliver a Retraction Notice to the Company within 60 days before the applicable Anniversary, then the right of retraction by the Investor shall lapse and the Share shall not be retractable by the Investor except in connection with the next following Anniversary.

A Retraction Notice must specify the share certificate number(s) representing the Retraction Shares and number of Shares the holder wishes to retract.

The Company will redeem Shares for which it properly receives a Retraction Notice for an amount equal to the Retraction Price (as defined below) within 30 days from the Effective Date (the Initial Retraction Date) unless (the Retraction Limits):

- (b) the Company receives, during any one fiscal year, Retraction Notices for more than 20% of any one class of Retractable Shares outstanding as at the last day of the Company's most recently completed fiscal year end prior to the Effective Date, and the directors of the Company determine in their sole discretion that sufficient funds are not available to the Company for the purposes of retraction; or in which case the Company will redeem the Shares for which Retraction Notices have been received pro rata on the Initial Retraction Date up to the Retraction Limits. Shares for which Retraction Notices have been received and which have not been redeemed on the Initial Retraction Date shall be redeemed in the Company's next fiscal quarter which Retraction Notices received equal less than the Retraction Limits and will be redeemed in priority to subsequent retraction requests.

The amount paid by the Company in respect of each Share for which it properly receives a Retraction Notice (the Retraction Price) shall be the amount equal to the paid up capital of the Share plus any dividends then declared and payable but not yet paid on such share less the Share's pro-rata proportion of any deficit in the Company at the Effective Date.

You are buying Exempt Market Securities

They are called exempt market securities because two parts of securities law do not apply to them. If an issuer wants to sell exempt market securities to you:

- the issuer does not have to give you a prospectus (a document that describes the investment in detail and gives you some legal protections), and
- the securities do not have to be sold by an investment dealer registered with a securities regulatory authority.

There are restrictions on your ability to resell exempt market securities. Exempt market securities are more risky than other securities.

You will receive an offering memorandum

Read the offering memorandum carefully because it has important information about the issuer and its securities. Keep the offering memorandum because you have rights based on it. Talk to a lawyer for details about these rights.

You will not receive advice [Instruction: Delete if sold by registrant]

You will not get professional advice about whether the investment is suitable for you. But you can still seek that advice from a registered adviser or investment dealer. Contact the Investment Dealers Association of Canada (website at <http://www.ida.ca/>) for a list of registered investment dealers in your area.

The securities you are buying are not listed

The securities you are buying are not listed on any stock exchange, and they may never be listed. You may never be able to sell these securities.

The issuer of your securities is a non-reporting issuer

A non-reporting issuer does not have to publish financial information or notify the public of changes in its business. You may not receive ongoing information about this issuer.

For more information on the exempt market, call your local securities regulatory authority or regulator.

If you live in British Columbia, contact the British Columbia Securities Commission at (604) 899-6500, (outside the local area, call toll-free 1-800 373-6393), or visit its website at www.bcsc.bc.ca.

[Instruction: The purchaser must sign 2 copies of this form. The purchaser and issuer must each receive a signed copy.]
